

Mark Madsen has resided on San Juan Island since 2006 after moving from his birthplace, Seattle. Madsen's background includes working for several decades in the telecommunications, networking, and software industries.

Prior to his move to San Juan Island, Madsen co-founded Allrecipes.com, and was a member of the early engineering teams at RealNetwork and Internap Network Services. He has served as a Board Trustee for the San Juan island Library District, and as a member of the San Juan Islands Agricultural Guild board.

Mark was named to the OPALCO Board in 2014 to fill a vacancy.
